

ANGIE NUSSEY

I Have No Idea What I'm Doing

Self-mastery in uncommon circumstances

Angie Nussey's "I Have No Idea What I'm Doing" keynote presentation is a one-of-a-kind performance delivering a message of hope, human connection, and empowerment using stories, songs...and a sense of humour.

Uncertain Journeys

A comedic thought-provoking, heartwarming, authentic performer who combines her vast understanding of human behaviour and incredible musical talent to inspire new levels of empowerment and compassion.

This intrepid entertainer/songwriter/author has performed over 3000 shows with audiences ranging from the exotic dancers of small town Ontario to the aristocrats of Africa.

She has failed and been humiliated more times than can be named, but she has also achieved and been revered in equal proportion. In her latest "I Have No Idea What I'm Doing" presentation, she delivers a 5-part approach for self-mastery in uncommon circumstances.

Keynote is suitable for:

- Leaders who hope to inspire and enrich the lives of others
- Conference attendees who are looking for an energy-boosting session
- Those who are interested in life-changing experiences
- Humanitarians, artists, and empaths who are seeking ways to stay elevated in challenging times.

Audience takeaways:

Learn to embrace feelings of anxiousness and move beyond them.

Discover three ways of generating personal power in uncommon circumstances.

Walk away feeling refreshed, rejuvenated and inspired.
